

Helen Bader
School of Social Welfare

Center on
Age & Community

June 24-28

2012

Milwaukee, WI
UWM Campus

Create  Change

Create Change

Transform Care for Elders through Creative Engagement
A Summer Institute of the UWM Center on Age & Community

Inspired by and based on THE PENELOPE PROJECT, a 2-year collaboration between UWM, Luther Manor, and Sojourn Theatre. Come learn the power and craft of cross-sector (arts/education/long term care) partnership. Work in cross-sector teams to design your own transformative creative engagement project. Inspire and improve programming in all levels of long term care through creative collaboration.

For: Artists, students, long term care professionals in all fields.

Taught by: Sojourn Theatre ensemble members, UWM faculty, and staff and residents of Luther Manor.

June 24-28, 2012

University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Union, just 4 blocks from Lake Michigan.

Learn

- TimeSlips creative storytelling method
- Theatre and performance methods
- Theories of individual and organizational change
- Evidence-based models for arts/aging partnerships
- How to design and evaluate your own project
- Basic tenants of person-centered care

Limited Seats! Teams of 3 or more receive a registration discount. Reserve your place!

Contact: www.aging.uwm.edu 414.229.2740

With support from the Helen Bader Foundation and Leading Age.

On Front: Odysseus (James Hart) and Athena (Caroline Imhoff) vanquish their enemies in Finding Penelope by Anne Basting with Sojourn Theatre and Luther Manor.

