

January activity idea (LAAP)

Rather than an activity such as a game or entertainment, we did a photo shoot last winter with our activity camera. The activity department set up a winter scene in our common area with small Christmas trees, sheets for snow, pillow batting for snow on the trees and used styrofoam balls to make a fake snow ball pile. Some of the Residents held a "snowball" as if they were throwing one at the camera. Or, some of the Residents used the opportunity to have a nice photo taken to give to family or friends. The residents got all dressed up in their best and had their hair done. The trees and snow were used to cover up wheelchairs or other devices. It was a real success and lots of compliments on the scene. When the pictures were developed the Residents received as many copies as they wanted.
